KAITLYN THOMAS BRINGS THE SASS ON HOT NEW SINGLE, “COULDA SHOULD A WOULD A”

Kaitlyn Thomas is being dubbed one of the hottest young talents on the Australian country music scene thanks to her powerhouse vocals and energetic live performances.

“Coulda Shoulda Woulda” is a fun upbeat tune that will have you singing along in no time.

“The song was recorded with a good mate of mine – Simon Johnson – at the Hillbilly Hut in Newcastle”, says Kaitlyn.

“I wanted the song to have a Shania Twain rock feel as I felt the song has her kind of sassiness. I’m super happy with the result and I think we achieved that Shania vibe”.

“Coulda Shoulda Woulda” was a spontaneous co-write at the DAG Songwriters Retreat in Nundle NSW that was finished within a couple of hours.

“It just kind of happened while we were waiting around for others to finish writing. We were talking about dating apps and past experiences of how you should have seen the warning signs and red flags after the very first date”, laughed Kaitlyn.

“The song is about how if only we had swiped left we wouldn’t have wasted the time getting to know people who are just not at all compatible with you!”

“Coulda Shoulda Woulda” is out Sunday 12th July through all digital platforms.
